

Regional development in rural areas

Analytical tools and public policies

André TORRE
Frédéric WALLET

UMR SAD-APT
University Paris-Saclay
INRA – AgroParistech
16, rue Claude Bernard, F-75231 Paris Cedex 05
torre@agroparistech.fr, wallet@agroparistech.fr

Introduction	4
The profound transformation of rural areas leads to fuzzy representations and boundaries ..	5
Diversified, fragmented and highly contrasted areas	8
Public policies dedicated to rural development are undergoing important changes	10
Objectives of this book	11
I. Disputed notions and definitions in Rural and Regional studies	15
I.1. The notions of “rural” and rurality: what is at stake?	15
I.2. A review of the notion of development	21
I.3. On Regions and territories	23
II. From the early literature to the contemporary approaches to Regional and Territorial development	26
II.1. Balanced development approaches: homothetic growth and economic base theory	26
II.2. Unbalanced approaches: pioneers of territorial development	27
II.3. The systemic approach	29
II.4. Development as a dynamic process linked to innovative behaviours	33
III. Policies of regional development and planning	36
III.1. Approaches in terms of regional balance and growth	36
III.2. Approaches in terms of inter- and intraregional inequalities	38
III.3. Giving innovation pride of place: the era of technology parks and competitive clusters	40

Torre A., Wallet F., 2016, Regional Development in Rural Areas. Analytical tools and Public policies, Springer Briefs in Regional Science, Springer, 110 p.

III.4. A trend towards decentralizing public policies	42
III.5. Territorial governance as an emerging form of territorial dynamics regulation	45
IV. In search of rural development.....	49
IV.1. The paradigm of agricultural modernization: a technicist approach focused on agricultural production	51
IV.2. Challenges to the technicist paradigm and the recognition of the human and social dimensions of development	52
IV.3. Consideration of local diversities, collective competencies and of rising demands ...	53
IV.4. The “new paradigm”	56
IV.5. Approaches to the question of development in rural analyses	60
V. Rural development policies. The European example: a long journey towards integration and sustainability.....	63
V.1. The CAP before 2000: The gradual construction of a European rural development policy	66
V.2. Policies of the 2000s: Affirmation of the importance of the territorial dimension and growing environmental concerns.....	68
V.3. Greater vivibility for regions and territories in European rural development policy ...	70
V.4. Europe 2020 policy: what will be the role of rural areas in the contet of smart specialization?	73
V.5. New approaches to rural development	76
VI. What future for rural areas? Scenarios for possible development paths.....	81
VI.1. Toward a preservation of agricultural activities?	82
VI.2. The unavoidable progress of peri-urbanisation	86
VI.3. Intensification of industry and business	89
VI.4. The countryside: new El Dorado for the service sector?.....	93
VI.5. Mixed or competing land uses: an arena of conflict and segregation?	96
Conclusion. Rural development in the 21st century	99
References	105